Andy received 70% (C) for his programming assignment and 82% (B-) for his final exam. His final grade is B-. According to the syllabus his final grade will be...

☒ unchanged.

☐ reduced to the lowest of either item, which is a C.

☐ reduced by one letter grade.

☐ This is a trick question because there are no rules in the syllabus governing the grade reduction.

Correct!

Question 5

0 / 0 pts

What is the procedure for submitting assignments?

☐ Email to TA.

- ☐ Submit harcopies in class on their specified due dates.
- ☒ Submit to Gradescope or Canvas per assignment's instruction.
- ☐ Submit softcopies to Canvas and Gradescope AND also hardcopies in class.

Very good!

Question 6

0 / 0 pts

To make an appeal for possible grading errors, I should...

- ☐ make an appeal in writing to the instructor and the TA (via email) a few weeks after the graded assignment is returned.
- ☐ talk to the professor after the class so the error can be corrected as soon as possible.
- ☐ make an appeal using Canvas within three days.
- ☒ make an appeal using the Regrade Request in Gradescope within three days of the date/time the graded assignment is posted.

Correct!

Question 70 / 0 pts

Angela submitted her homework 3 half an hour late to Gradescope because of some computer networking issue. She emailed her homework to TA and Professor and explained the situation before the due date/time. Her submitted homework to Gradescope and the one submitted via email are identical. In this case what penalty will be applied to her homework grade?

☐

She will receive a ZERO on this assignment because no late homework is accepted.

☐

She will receive 10% deduction because she turned in the homework late on Canvas.

☐

She will need to discuss with TA and Professor to determine what the deduction percentage is.

☒

She will receive no deduction.

That's correct!

Question 80 / 0 pts

I can skip coming to class because the course slides (notes) have everything presented and discussed during the class periods.

☐

True

☒

False

That's right, actively participating in the class is crucial to your success in this course, and many materials are not shown on the slides.
