

CSE 460

Software Analysis & Design

Ground Rules

Hessam S. Sarjoughian

CSE 460: Software Analysis and Design
School of Computing, Informatics and Decision Systems Engineering
Fulton Schools of Engineering
Arizona State University, Tempe, AZ, USA

- Class attendance is integral to being successful
 - If a class must be missed, then arrange with a classmate to share his/her notes with you.
- Use of laptops, tablets, and cell phones is restricted
 - Activities which fall outside the course topics are not allowed
 - Laptops, tablets, and cell phones must be silenced
 - No headphones
 - Hats cannot be worn during exams
- Talking during class with others is not allowed
- Materials from textbooks and the course slides should be read before they are covered in class (see the Reading Assignments provided in the course syllabus)
- Classes will not be recorded on Zoom

- Instructor and TA emails are: hss@asu.edu; smohite3@asu.edu.
- All email correspondences must have a subject line that starts with CSE460: followed with some helpful information about the email's content.
 - E.g., CSE460: Exercise #3 in Hw #2
- Canvas email system cannot be used.
- Emails that don't comply with the above requirements will NOT be responded to.

Course work

- Course slides should be augmented with your own thoughts as well as discussions during lectures
 - It is helpful to add notes, questions, and ideas to the course slides
- Course assignments are to be done independently (i.e., individually) unless stated otherwise
 - Academic Integrity
 - Achievement, engagement, and responsibility
- Exams are closed books and notes
 - Two-sided crib sheets can be used
 - Crib sheets must be 8.5"x11"; Crib sheets cannot be smaller or larger in size
 - Crib sheets must be submitted with the exams (it is recommended to make a copy for future use).
 - Midterm exam 1: one crib sheet
 - Midterm exam 2: two crib sheets
 - Final exam: three crib sheets
 - Crib sheets must be your own. They can be typed and/or handwritten
- Final exam is comprehensive

A note on course activities

- Answers to homework assignments and exams ICE will only be presented during class periods.
- In-Class Exercises (ICEs) and answers will be given during class.
- It is highly recommended to take notes while solutions are presented.
- Your own notes supplement the feedback you receive on your course activities.
- Graded evaluations of homework assignments and exams will be complemented with Trends Documents.

Questions and Hints

- Canvas Discussions is a great way for posting
 - questions related to graded assignments
 - answers can be posted provided they are not solutions
 - hints, clarification, ideas, etc. are helpful to post
 - other questions
 - answers can be examples, thoughts, etc. that can help better understand the course materials and topics
- Questions posted on canvas and emailed will be usually answered between 24 and 48 hours excluding Sundays and official university holidays